Dental Insurance

The More You Know

Maintaining great care can often require more costs than regular insurance will pay for. When it's time to head to the dentist, your health insurance likely turns a blind eye to your ailing chompers, but that's not to say that a trip to the dentist isn't going to take a bite out of your wallet. Depending on the area in which you live, a crown may cost $1,500, and a root canal might run you $300 to $1,000. Even a simple cleaning will likely come in at more than $100. Dentists aren't cheap and that's why dental insurance may be appropriate for you.

Critical illness insurance provides a single cash benefit paid directly to you if you're diagnosed or treated for a covered critical illness – giving you the flexibility to help pay bills related to treatment or to help with everyday living expenses, such as car payments, the mortgage, groceries, or utility bills. Consider how you would manage if you were unable to work due to an illness.
